

Q.1. Why does the poet want to go away from his beloved?

Ans. The poet wants to go away from his beloved because his beloved did not love him. There is nothing hope to him that world can show.

Q.2. What are the things that the sun does not have?

Ans. The things that the sun does not have are desire, sense and also beloved like the poet.

Q.3. What will make the speaker journey speedier?

Ans. No desire nor sense and half so short a way will make the speaker journey speedier.

Q.4. What makes a man's power feeble ?

Ans. Love makes a man's power feeble because a man do anything when he get love.

Q.5. How do sighing and weeping affect the speaker?

Ans. When the speaker listening the sighing and weeping he got surprised that what would happen. He became sad.

Q.6. How does the beloved waste the speaker's life?

Ans. The speaker whom he loved has told him that there is nothing importance of him in her life. In this way the beloved wastes the speaker's life.

Q.7. In what way will the lover remain united ?

Ans. If they live happy and never be quarrel to each other then the over will remain united.

Long Answer Type Answers

Q. 1. Read the following line carefully

When thou sigh'st, thou sigh'st not winde But sigh'st my soule away.

This is an example of hyperbole. Find out other examples of hyperbole in the poem.

Ans. Other examples of hyperbole in the poem are a following:

Must dye at last, 'tis best,

To use myself in jest

Thus by fain's deaths to dye.

That thou lov't mee, as thou say'st

If in thine my life thou waste.

Are but turn'd aside to sleepe

They who one another keepe

Alive, ne'r parted bee.

Q.2. Write a note on the use of hyperbole in the poem.

Ans. The poem "sweetest love, I do not goe" is composed by the poet John Donne". He has written about his beloved to whom he loved so much but she doesn't. He said.

"That thou lov'st mee, as thou say'st If in thine my life thou waste. The poet want to say that to whom I love so much does not love me nor say anything to me. If she does like this means if she will not say anything to me, my life is waste for me.

This thing the poet want to say in this hyperbole.

Q.3.

But beleeve that I shall make speeder journeys, since I take

More wings and spurres hee.

Comment on the power of love in the light of these lines.

Ans. The poet 'John Donne' wants to say in these lines that love has power to do anything. Love can change anyone's mind. It has power to change anyone's life. He wants to say if he get his beloved's love in his life, his life is so easy for him. His journey of love will be speeder if he gets, love. So, he wants to teels that to do love is easy but to fulfill it is very hard.

Q.4. Explain

They who one another keepe

Alive, ne'r parted bee.

Ans. The poet 'John Donne' who compoes this poem "sweetest love I do not goe." He told in this poem about his beloved. In this poem he wants to say that to whom we loved so much never think to left her. A person can't live without his beloved.

Q.5. Summarise the poems in about 100 words.

Ans. See Summary.

Q. 6. How can lovers overcome bad chance?

Ans. Lovers overcome "bad chance" when his beloved come back to him. But his beloved had left him when he proposed her about his love. He used to love to his beloved. He loved her so much. He can't live without her but when she refused he totally discarded hislife.

Q.7. What images do you like the most?

Ans. The speakers images I like the most because the speaker loved his beloved none can do like this. He can easily die for, his beloved. For this I like his images the most.

Q. 8. What images from Nature are used in the poem?

Ans. The sun and the wind are the images from nature are used in the poem. The sun brightens its light to everywhere without any condition and like this, the wind also blew without any demand. As love doesnot demand any- thing to leave live only. These are the wonderful images from Nature.